

HCPS Library Media Specialist STEM Brief

01 May 2024

Event Outcomes

SOFWERX, in collaboration with Hillsborough County Public Schools (HCPS) - Library Media Services, orchestrated a dynamic STEM Showcase to engage library media specialists from various schools across the HCPS district. The event was designed to illuminate the potential of integrating STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) components within the school library setting, leveraging the innovative resources and opportunities presented and offered by SOFWERX.

- SOFWERX hosted 80 elementary, middle, and high school library media specialists from many different schools in the district
- Participants gained valuable insights and resources to revitalize their school library programs to include STEM components
- This program update will influence over 60,000 students enrolled in HCPS
- By integrating activities experienced at SOFWERX into the HCPS STEM curriculum, the innovative culture will inspire students to excel in an increasingly technology-driven world
