This encourages discovery, exploration, and critical thinking. Attendees learned how to get involved and support the community by building habits of learning, confidence, and teamwork skills along the way.

- The event drew over 400 students and parents, with additional participation from teachers and administrators, amplifying its impact across the educational community
- Students, parents, and facility members learned about SOFWERX, our mission, and how we support the SOF Warfighters
- SOFWERX challenged their critical thinking skills with interactive activities including a flight simulator and a math challenge, which fostered a deeper understanding of STEM concepts
